Here are the relevant phone numbers based on your location:

When you call, make sure to have your reservation number and personal details ready to help speed up the process. The customer service representative will be able to access your booking and assist with the cancellation or rescheduling.

 Pro Tip: If you are calling during peak hours, you might experience longer wait times. Try calling early in the day for a quicker response.

2. Alaska Airlines Online Cancellation

If you prefer not to wait on the phone, Alaska Airlines also offers an online platform where you can manage your booking directly. Simply log in to your Alaska Airlines account, locate your upcoming flight, and select the cancellation option.

The website also provides useful information about refund eligibility and cancellation fees, depending on the type of ticket you purchased. While some cancellations can be done without fees (especially within 24 hours of booking), it's always helpful to check your reservation before proceeding.

3. Use the Alaska Airlines Mobile App

For tech-savvy travelers, the Alaska Airlines mobile app offers an easy and convenient way to cancel your flight. Open the app, find your reservation, and select the option to modify or cancel your flight. The app gives you the flexibility to handle cancellations on the go.

Whether you're at home or traveling, the app allows you to manage your booking and track the status of your cancellation request in real-time.

When Should You Contact Alaska Airlines for Cancellation?

Time is an important factor when considering a flight cancellation. Alaska Airlines has a 24-hour cancellation policy that allows you to cancel your flight within 24 hours of booking for a full refund, with no cancellation fee. This rule applies if you booked the flight directly through Alaska Airlines and the booking was made at least 7 days before the departure date.

If you're outside this window, you may still be able to cancel, but cancellation fees might apply, especially for non-refundable tickets. If you need to change your travel dates instead of cancelling, customer service can help you reschedule and provide you with the best options.

What Happens After You Cancel Your Flight?

After contacting Alaska Airlines to cancel your flight, the next steps depend on the type of ticket you purchased. If you have a non-refundable ticket, you may be eligible for a credit toward future travel, or you may incur a cancellation fee.

For refundable tickets, you may receive a refund directly to your original payment method. If your flight is canceled due to reasons like weather or airline issues, you may also be entitled to a full refund or an alternative flight at no extra charge.
